As Michigan State University Press begins its 59th year, we continue our commitment to publishing quality scholarship and research that reflect our parent institution's mission as a "global land-grant university." I call your attention to several of our new frontlist titles. The Political Economy of Transition in Eurasia, Norman A. Graham and Folke Lindahl editors, is the inaugural work of our new Eurasian Political Economy and Public Policy Study Series; State of the Nation: South Africa 2005-2006 is the latest volume in MSU Press's ongoing collaborative series undertaken with South Africa's Human Sciences Research Council; Mozambique's Experience in Building a National Extension System is a detailed analysis of changes taking place in agricultural extension work in a key developing nation.

For those interested in contemporary politics in the United States two titles are of particular significance: Trevor Parry-Giles's The Character of Justice: Rhetoric, Law, and Politics in the Supreme Court Confirmation Process, and our new paperback edition of Quentin J. Schultze's Christianity and the Mass Media in America: Toward a Democratic Accommodation.

We invite you to browse our catalogue to catch a glimpse of these and many other fine books and journals available from Michigan State University Press. For a more detailed look we invite you to visit our website at www.msupress.msu.edu.
